Maintaining Security Awareness

Most, if not all of you, are aware that terrorists recently made another assault on Paris. They hit soft targets such as a restaurant, theater, arena, etc., - venues that many of us visit on a regular basis.

As security professionals, we have the mindset of being vigilant and security conscious while on duty, but does this carry over into our personal lives, especially in this day and age we live in?

During this holiday season, and beyond, our government is urging its citizens to remember the following:

Safety Corner: Fall & Winter Hazards

The elements, reduction of natural light and other concerns can make this time of year particularly hazardous regarding slips, trips and falls.

Therefore, it is important to keep the following in mind:

- Watch your step. Rain, snow, ice and other conditions can make walkways, parking lots and other foot traffic areas slippery.
- Stay alert for others who may be distracted and/or having difficulty seeing you and take precautions as necessary.
- Monitor for lighting problems and have a back-up source of light, such as a flashlight, available as required.

If a hazardous situation is discovered, note it, report it and help guard against a mishap, as best as possible, until the problem is corrected.

Sincerely,

Shahar Gaash

In Memoriam:

RMI mourns the loss of a fine man, husband, father, grandfather and security officer, Dick Lee Durham.

Mr. Durham started with RMI, in July of 2003, and worked as a security officer at the American Honda account in Troy, Ohio, for over 12 years. Dick always came to work with a friendly and somewhat mischievous smile on his face.

After graduating from Western High School, in Russiaville Indiana, Dick enlisted in the US Navy and proudly served his country for many years.

Dick enjoyed spending time with his wife, children and grandchildren. He also enjoyed watching High school, NCAA and NBA Basketball.

Dick owned a country-western boot store for many years and enjoyed the country-western style. Dick loved to help people any way he could and always came to work with an attitude of excellence.

Awareness

- ✓ Be aware of your surroundings when out in the public such as while shopping at a mall and when in parking lots, while at the theater or out for a night on the town.
- ✓ Just like on the job, if you see something suspicious, say something. Report any security concerns to your local law enforcement. It is better to be safe than sorry.

RMI wishes to remind any and all employees who use Verizon as their personal wireless service provider that they can benefit from the same discount RMI enjoys.
